

Fossils Declare the Glory of God!

God! Cheri describes how fossils can declare God's glory:

"And I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea, and all that is in them, saying, "To him who sits on the throne and to the Lamb be blessing and honor and glory and might forever and ever!" - Revelation 5:13

A question I've often heard at the museum is, "Why do you have a biblical history exhibit in a dinosaur & fossil museum?" My answer to that question is often, "While we love fossils and dinosaurs, we want to let people know that they can trust the Bible."

Recently, I read an article by writer Cheri Fields that got me thinking about the overall purpose of our museum: to bring glory to "Every time we dig up a fossil or examine one at a museum, it declares the power and judgment of God. They are indeed silent witnesses to the "honor, and glory, and power" of the Creator.

It is interesting that they are part of the group that adds "blessing" to Him as well. Fossils are the best sources we have to learn about the full range of creatures God made for the original world. Would you know God made giant lizards bigger than a school bus without fossils?"

So, fossils declare God's glory! We know that not everyone appreciates the focus of our museum, but ultimately we want to please the Creator God more than any particular person.

May that be true of your life as well. At work, school, or home, may you seek to give glory to God in everything that you do!
