The Beauty of Winter

Winter in Eastern Montana has its challenges. This year has been filled with periods of warmth followed by high winds and blistering cold. Our Creator has a purpose for every season, and winter is no exception.

Winter, like all of creation, reveals the handiwork of God. Though the cold and barrenness may seem lifeless, it is a testimony to the Creator's design and the reality of the Curse on creation due to sin. The changing seasons show God's control over history and nature, affirming that He is the Creator who operates in real history, not in abstract imagination.

As you observe the winter landscape—the trees, the quiet earth, the stars in the cold night sky—remember that these are evidence of God's provision and care. The beauty and order in creation reflect His heart and character. Even in the harshness of winter, God's grace sustains life and points us to the hope of restoration through Christ.

Take time this winter to reflect on God's Word and His creation. Pray for godly discernment to see His hand in all things and to stand firm on the authority of Scripture in a world that often denies the Creator.<sup>1</sup>

Winter at the Glendive Dinosaur and Fossil Museum also brings change. Plans are already in place to work on our upstairs exhibits, including the order of burial, age of the earth, and a potential new dinosaur! Downstairs, we are working to complete our megalodon jaw in the marine room. We hope that you come visit this summer to see the changes!
